Career Voyages

The U.S. Department of Labor has developed an exciting new web site, www.CareerVoyages.gov, produced in partnership with the Department of Education. The goal of the site is to provide Americans with information and tools to build careers in high-growth industries and high-demand occupations.

Benefits of Career Voyages

Career Voyages provides career information and good choices for varying levels of education or training background. Career information on the site includes:

- Occupations that are growing fastest nationally and within each state, as well as emerging and evolving industries
- Career ladders within each high-growth industry
- Skills, education, and training required for these positions
- Detailed occupational reports including wages, growth rates, and licensing requirements
- Career videos, as well as links to actual job descriptions and jobs in their local community
- Specialized resources for youth, career changers, adults, and career advisors

Although some career paths described on the web site require a four-year degree, Career Voyages has something for everyone, whether they have a high school diploma, on-the-job training, apprenticeship certification, vocational certificates, or two-year professional degree programs at community colleges. These can all lead to promising careers.

With its focus on high-growth industries and high-demand occupations, www.CareerVoyages.gov should be part of the electronic tool box in every Career Counselor's office and in every One-Stop Career Center.
